

I'm hopeful that the FCC will retain the ban on cross-ownership of television stations and newspapers in the same community. It will protect the public from limits on points of view. As a former journalist and dean of a major university journalism school, I've studied this issue for 40 years, and am convinced there should be strict limits on cross-ownership.